DEDICATION

The Senior Class of 1951, with pleasure and pride, dedicate this Milestone to Dr. Frederic P. Giles, our sponsor and, most of all, our friend through our years at Eastern. We can never forget in the years ahead the man who never failed to give each and every student a kind word and a helping hand.

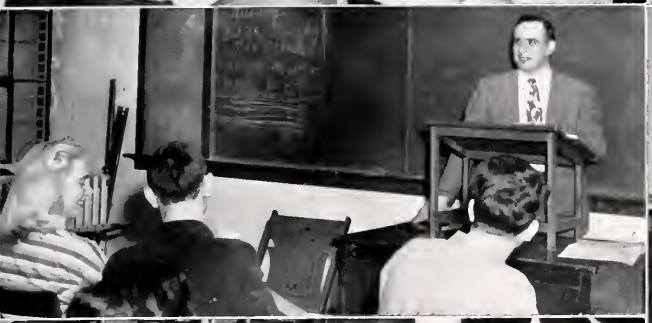
NATURAL SCIENCES

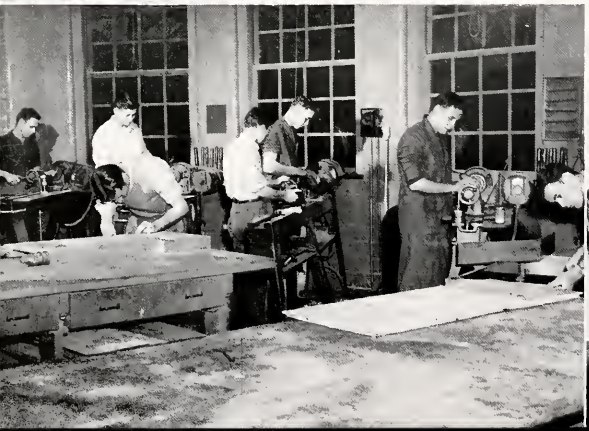
The biological and physical sciences include the studies of biology, chemistry, general science, geology, and physics. This division is headed by Dr. Thomas C. Herndon, professor of chemistry since 1930 and chairman of the biological and physical sciences division since 1947. It is the aim of the department to prepare students for industrial occupations, teaching positions, and pre-professional work.

The mathematics division of instruction has as its chairman Dr. Smith Park. The plan of the department is to prepare students for three fields of endeavor: the teaching of mathematics, pre-engineering, and graduate work. A full four year curriculum is offered. Dr. Park has been chairman of the mathematical division since 1930, the same year in which he became a professor of mathematics.

Dr. W. J. Moore is chairman of the applied arts and sciences division of instruction. Four year curricula are offered in the fields of commerce, home economics, and industrial arts. Limited courses are given in agriculture and library science. To give fundamental training necessary in the various fields, to give a broader general education, to train capable teachers, and to satisfy the demands of those who wish to enter other fields besides teaching are the aims of the division as a whole.

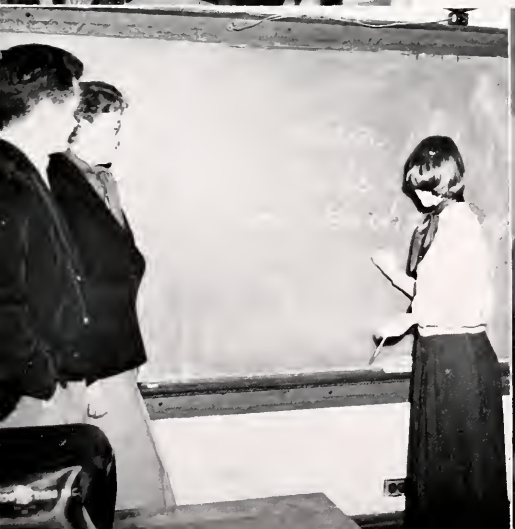
APPLIED ARTS





English, French, German, Latin, and Spanish are the languages offered at Eastern. Dr. Roy B. Clark, professor of languages since 1931, has been chairman of the language division of instruction for twenty-three years. It is the aim of the department to give all students a basic understanding and appreciation of their native tongue, and to give to those who are interested more specialized knowledge of other languages and an appreciation of the way of life of the peoples who speak these languages.

LANGUAGES



SOCIAL SCIENCES

Geography, government, history, and sociology comprise the social science division of instruction. The chairman of this division is Dr. Charles A. Keith, who has been department head since 1912. The purpose of the department is to train students to see the world in which they live in its broadest aspects, to train teachers of the social studies, and to give all students an introduction to the history of our universe.

FINE ARTS

The fine arts division has for its chairman Dr. Frederic P. Giles, ten years a professor of art and nine years chairman of the division. The fine arts division includes both the art and music fields of instruction. To increase appreciation and understanding of the fine arts and to prepare students for teaching are the main objectives of the field. Students are taught to see the existence of the arts in good or bad form in all their surroundings, and are helped to realize that they must be able to display their taste in the most every-day affairs of life.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION

Charles T. Hughes is chairman of the health and physical education division of instruction. Contrary to some opinions, the aim of the physical education department is not to train professional sports players. The real goal of the division is to train students for better use of leisure time both on the campus and after graduation. This ideal applies to the freshman gym classes as well as in the training of health and physical education instructors.

MILITARY SCIENCE

Colonel William D. Paschall is chairman of the military science division of instruction. The Reserve Officers Training Corps has two main objectives: to produce junior officers who have the qualities and characteristics necessary to their progressive and continued development as officers of the Army of the United States, and to give educational training which has been found valuable by former college students who have taken the course.

Elementary education, educational psychology, public school administration, secondary education, and the training schools are the courses offered in the educational division of instruction. The division is headed by Dr. D. Thomas Ferrell, professor of education since 1936 and chairman of the division since 1945. The purpose of the division is to help freshmen students determine whether or not they want to be teachers, to train teachers in the field of their choice, and to offer graduate work leading to an M.A. degree for those interested in leadership in the various fields of educational work.
